

AMENDMENTS TO THE SPECIFICATION

Please amend the specification as follows:

The paragraph beginning on pg. 22 and ending on pg. 23 is amended as follows:

DVD players for reproducing various types of DVDs comprise four types: namely, a video DVD player (hereinafter referred to as a “video player”) capable of reproducing AV data recorded according to a DVD video format; an audio DVD player (hereinafter referred to as an “audio player”) which plays back in various reproduce patterns audio data recorded according to a DVD audio format; an unsophisticated audio DVD player (i.e. a simple audio player) (hereinafter referred to as an “unsophisticated audio player”) which plays back in two channels LPCM audio data recorded according to a DVD audio format; and a compatible DVD player (hereinafter referred to as a “compatible player”) capable of reproducing both AV data recorded according to the DVD video format and audio data recorded according to a DVD audio format. Detailed description of the individual DVD players will be provided later.